Chancellor's Honors 2012 » Ready for the World

The Ready for the World honor is awarded to a faculty member who has worked to enhance intercultural and international awareness of students and the campus community.

SAL DIMARIA

Sal DiMaria is chair of the Italian program in the Department of Modern Foreign Languages and Literature. He also serves as director and professor for the Urbino Summer Study abroad program. When DiMaria joined the faculty in 1985, there were only thirty-five students in the Italian program. He started the Urbino summer program two years later, creating the very first program abroad in the department. His work has helped the program grow tremendously; it is now eight times the size it was when he began. Every summer since 1987, he has led a study abroad trip and has now shared the experience with more than 500 students. His work helps immerse our students in another culture so they can think of themselves and their country in global terms.
